Ask Move
To Reopen
Hearings

By Lucie Lubisch

Warmer than the midsummer heat spell is public feeling in the Pasadena school controversy, which finds a brand new Board of Education faced not only with the problem of running the schools, but also the decision of whether to rehire Superintendent Stuart McComb.

McComb resigned last week as an aftermath of the old Board's investigation of teacher activity in election of the new Board members.

Meanwhile Dr. Stuart A. Marsee, assistant superintendent for business, has been chosen "acting superintendent."

MRS. LU VERNE LaMotte, Walter Shattford and Steve Salisian, elected 2-to-1 over their opponents and allegedly with support of the teachers, were seated Monday. They and Edgar Barratt, who spearheaded the election investigation, and Robert Mardian, a middle-of-the-roader in the controversy, make up the five-man Board.

Mardian was elected the new Board president, and Salisian, vice president.

Their first regular meeting Tuesday night was held, of necessity, in the auditorium of McKinley Junior High School, because between 500 and 600 persons were on hand to see what action the Board would take on McComb, and also on Dr. Roland Walter, assistant superintendent, and Dr. Ralph Hallman, department head at PCC, who were demoted to teacher status as disciplinary action because of their election activity.

Dr. Hallman is president of the Pasadena Education Association, comprising 93 per cent of Pasadena teachers.

SALISIAN early in the meeting moved to rehire McComb immediately, but the Board voted to table the motion to give new members more opportunity to study transcripts of hearings.

Mrs. Robert Marlin appeared before the Board with petitions bearing 4,432 signatures she said were obtained in 48 hours, asking the Board to reconsider on McComb, Walker and Hallman, and to conduct a new open discussion on election circumstances.

She said the more than 20,000 voters who elected the three new members also were giving the administration a vote of confidence, and that she believed the former Board acted in haste in its decisions on the three school men.

John Anson, attorney for McComb, said his client was not fired, but resigned because he felt it would "lessen the load" of the new Board and the teachers. He said McComb would welcome an open investigation and "would like very much" the opening of testimony taken in a series of five secret hearings on teacher election. He said McComb had "inferentially" been severely damaged professionally.

OVER THE objection of Robert Mardian, the other four Board members agreed to make public transcripts of the hearings, in which several teachers and principals testified as to alleged activity in the election.

The investigation was begun when a parent reported that a La Canada teacher had her class address post cards to their parents during school hours urging the election of LaMotte, Salisian and Shattford. As a result of the investigation the PEA was ordered to vacate its office on school property.

Mardian said he objected to release of the transcripts because those testifying had been promised privacy. The Board agreed, however, that those desiring to keep their testimony secret may do so. Shattford, a few days ago, urged a non-partisan panel of attorneys to review the

Line Break Causes
24-Hour Water Lack

Several hundred residents of the canyon area of Sierra Madre were without water for more than 24 hours last week when a 12-inch water main cracked.

The break in the line happened at about 3 p.m. Friday in Brookside Lane just south of Sunnyside Lane. William Noel, Water Department superintendent, supervised the excavation which was complicated by the necessity of removing tons of large rocks.

DIGGERS struck a gas line running on top of the water main and broke it. The Fire Department was called to stand by in case of an explosion or fire from leaking gas.

After the gas leak was repaired, members of the Fire Department manned shovels and picks most of Friday night.

Residents without water were forced to get it from other areas of the city. Also, the Water Department supplied emergency cases with bottled water.

Residents without water included those who live on Brookside, Woodland, Alta Vista Circle, Vista Circle, Alta Vista Drive, and a part of Canyon Crest. Water was turned off from 3 p.m. Friday to 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

The water escaping from the break ran into the channel along Brookside Lane, was diverted at Camillo and emptied into the Water Department spreading ground. Nearly all the escaping water was recovered, Mr. Noel said.

THE 5-FOOT, 2-inch crack in the water main, Mr. Noel said, probably was caused by the pressure of rocks which will shift positions from vibrations caused by loud explosions, such as those produced by jet planes.

Man Bilks
Two Here;
Arrested

Freddy John G. Hansen, 27, a Danish citizen, was arraigned in Pasadena Municipal Court yesterday on grand theft charges which included a $700 bilking of Mr. and Mrs. John Rasmussen of Rasmussen Appliances, 52 W. Sierra Madre Blvd.

According to police records, Hansen, who lived in Pasadena temporarily, came to see the Rasmussens on June 25, 1956. He asked them to lend him $200 for X-ray and hospital bills for his wife.

Obtaining a check for the money, police later learned that he cashed it at the Sierra Cafe, 36 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., and paid former owner, Floyd Anthony, $55 toward a bad check he had previously cashed there.

ON JULY 1, Hansen returned to see the Rasmussens and told them that money he expected from his father in Denmark had not yet arrived. He said he had to have $400 to send his wife to Denmark to visit a cancer specialist.

The Rasmussens loaned him the money and took a note for it. A few days later Hansen returned and asked them to cash a personal check for $25. When the check returned from the bank marked "no funds," Mr. Rasmussen went to Hansen's home address. There he learned from a friend that Hansen had left.

Mr. Rasmussen turned the case over to local police. Sgt. R. A. Heasley conducted investigations which led to the issuing of a grand theft complaint and a warrant for Hansen's arrest.

Hansen's trail was picked up and he was finally arrested in Las Vegas, May 20. He waived extradition and was brought back to California and lodged in Los Angeles County Jail.

According to police, he admits obtaining the money from the Rasmussens under false pretenses. Pasadena police also hold charges against Hansen on bad check issuance.

Saves Boy
Drowning

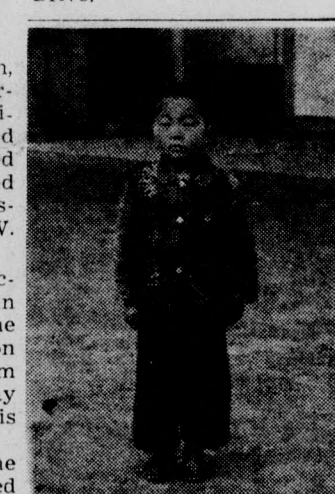

A Sierra Madre housewife broke her leg Saturday while saving a 4-year-old boy from drowning in Alamitos Bay, Long Beach.

Mrs. John Kennedy, 229 W. Montecito, was sitting on the beach when she saw the boy struggling in the water. She reached him before he disappeared and, when carrying the boy to shore, stepped into a hole and broke her left leg below the knee.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ray of Whittier, was treated at the scene by a physician who had been sunbathing in the vicinity.

Mrs. Kennedy was sent to Community Hospital for X-rays and then to the Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Wilmington. She is now at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Murphy, Alamitos Heights.

Accompanying Mrs. Kennedy when the accident occurred was Mrs. Dorothy Underwood, 770 Canyon Crest Drive.

A SIERRA MADREAN by proxy, young Kim Kwang Sun, of Korea, has been "financially adopted" by Dr. and Mrs. John Robertson, 462 E. Sierra Madre Blvd. Through Foster Parents Plan, Inc., the Robertsons will contribute monthly support for Kwang to the Korean orphanage where he has lived since the death of his father. Foster Parents Plan has matched up thousands of war-orphaned children in Korea, Greece, Italy, West Germany, France and Belgium with concerned "parents" in the United States.

Dog Licenses
Are Now Due

Dog days are here—and licenses are due and payable as of July 1 at the Police Department.

According to Police Chief Gordon McMillan, if your dog was licensed last year in Sierra Madre, the receipt for that license may be sufficient proof of required rabies inoculation.

Dogs must either have been inoculated within the past two years with the two-year vaccination, or within the current year if inoculated with the one-year preventative.

Fees are: Male, $2; female, $4; spayed, $2.

Rescue Crew
Carries Hurt
Boy to Safety

A mountain climbing lesson ended Sunday in a badly injured ankle for Mark Lee, 11-year-old Boy Scout of 1821 N. Elkhart, South San Gabriel.

Mark was practicing mountain climbing with his troop near Sturtevant Falls when he was struck on the ankle by a falling rock. Painfully injured, he was unable to walk and a call was put in for the Sierra Madre Rescue Team. Members reached the injured boy, splinted the leg and took him out of the canyon by litter. He was taken to a hospital by the scoutmaster.

Helping in the rescue were Minor Harkness, Jon Matthews, Edward and Earl La Lone, Howard Miller, Bill Adams, Hubert Herrick and Bill Wark.

Dispute Arises Over
McComb Message

Kenneth Bush was elected president of the Sierra Madre Board of Education at the organizational meeting Monday night. He succeeds Dr. Milton Valois who did not seek re-election when his term expired.

Mrs. Martha Coutant was re-elected Board clerk. Both Mr. Bush and Mrs. Coutant were chosen by unanimous votes.

The Board avoided what may have led to a serious controversy by deleting a paragraph from a message of appreciation to Dr. Stuart F. McComb, former superintendent of Pasadena Schools who was forced to resign recently.

THE ORIGINAL message

said:

"The undersigned trustees of the Sierra Madre School District have learned with regret of your decision to leave the Pasadena system. We wish to express to you our thanks and appreciation for the cooperation and friendly assistance you have given to our district during your tenure as superintendent in Pasadena.

"During the period of your service, you have convinced us of your devotion to the best interests of the students and teachers in your system, and for that reason we have known that the pupils going from our school to yours would be well and capably educated."

Mrs. Coutant objected. If the message were sent, she argued, people may imply that the Sierra Madre Board is supporting Dr. McComb and disavowing the action of the Pasadena Board.

Pasadena Board members forced Dr. McComb to resign as the result of charges that he acted improperly in the recent school election in the Crown City.

Other members of the Sierra Madre Board felt, however, that they were not entering the dispute but simply expressing appreciation for the invaluable aid given by Dr. McComb.

It was finally agreed to delete the second paragraph and send the message to Dr. McComb's home. With this Mrs. Coutant agreed.

MRS. COUTANT brought up also the subject of a released time program for religious classes. The Sierra Madre Ministerial Association has requested the Board to permit a released time program starting this fall.

Dr. Jackson said he would present a report on released time programs at the next Board meeting July 15. At the request of Newell Barrett, Dr. Jackson also will report on dismissed time.

The latter simply means that schools dismiss classes early one day a week for children to attend religious instruction. Those not desiring to do so may go home.

Under released time programs children are dismissed during school hours if their parents sign releases. Children whose parents do not wish them to attend religious classes must stay in school.

IN OTHER action, the Board:

1. Postponed grading the athletic field at Sierra Madre School until sufficient funds can be found for the work. The low bid was about $2,000 above the $3,500 budgeted for the work by the School Board.

2. Approved the appointment of Miss Barbara Odgers, a Sierra Madrean, as third grade teacher to replace Mrs. Matilda Laughlin who resigned. Miss Odgers recently was graduated from the University of Southern California.

3. Authorized Dr. Lowell Jackson, new superintendent of schools, to hire two college boys to resurface school desks at Sierra Madre School and to paint woodwork during the summer.

Final Rites
Observed for
Mrs. Gross

Last rites were observed Wednesday for Mrs. Margaret G. Gross, 47 W. Grand View, who died Monday. Services were conducted by Rev. Carl H. Moyer at Ripple Chapel.

Mrs. Gross was a native of Coatesville, Pa., and had lived in Sierra Madre 18 years. She was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church and Women of the Church Club.

She is survived by her husband, Carl P. Gross, Sierra Madre; a son, C. Robert Gross, Sherman Oaks, and two grandchildren.

Friday Services
To Be Held for
Mrs. M. E. Fisher

Services will be held Friday at Ripple Chapel, for Maude Estelle Fisher, 80, of 144 N. Mountain Trail, Mrs. Fisher died July 2 after a long illness.

She was a native of Beaver, Penn., but had made her home in Sierra Madre for the past 10 years. She is survived by her daughters, Mrs. Gladys Harris of the home address, and Mrs. Thomas E. Hall of Cincinnati, Ohio.

She also leaves sisters, Mrs. Ivy Stevens, Sacramento; Mrs. Laura Wilkins, Holy, Colo.; Mrs. Clara Duncan, Pueblo, Colo.; two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Dr. Ethel Barnhart will officiate at the 1 p.m. services. Entombment will be at Forest Lawn.

ASSETS UP

First Western Bank and Trust Co.'s statement of condition as of June 30 showed an increase in total assets amounting to more than $38 million over June 1956, according to T. P. Coats, chairman of the board and president of the statewide banking institution. Total assets on June 30 of $925,675,896 compare with $886,882,196 in June 1956.

Editorial

Tilting at Windmills

Although it may difficult to convince the hard-pressed housewife trying to stretch a dollar to buy $1.50 worth of groceries, true inflation does not now exist.

This, at least, is the viewpoint of Leon H. Keyserling, consulting economist and attorney, formerly chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and now president of the Conference on Economic Progress.

"We are," says Mr. Keyserling, "tilting at windmills." His viewpoint is so uncommon these days, we thought some of his ideas, buttressed by figures, are worth presenting.

Instead of inflation, according to Mr. Keyserling, we are in the throes of an "inadequate and distorted" prosperity. The basis of his contention is that our economic growth is not expanding at anywhere near the proper rate.

He says, for example, that our over-all economic growth averaged 4 1/2 per cent a year for several years after World War II, but now averages less than 2 1/2 per cent a year.

This slowdown has caused almost 60 billion dollars in lost production within four years. The level of unemployment is 40 per cent higher today than in 1953, allowing, of course, for the increased population and greater number of workers.

The economic slowdown has resulted from an even greater slowdown in consumption growth. Purchases by American consumers, measured in 1956 dollars, grew only 1 1/2 per cent from the fourth quarter of 1955 to the fourth quarter of 1956.

Wage incomes and farm incomes are inadequate, while incomes from investment funds have distorted the picture by growing relatively too fast.

Mr. Keyserling also maintains that the federal budget, far from being too fat, is losing real weight all the time.

The budget, he says, declined from 20.7 per cent of our total national production in 1953 to 16.2 per cent in 1957. On a per capita basis the budget dropped from more than $500 to about $400 in the same period.

Clouding the picture considerably, he goes on, are the increased profits, after taxes, of corporations. These giants, he claims, do not operate on the old-fashioned law of supply and demand, but fix their prices themselves.

In the first quarter of 1957, profits of 822 leading corporations have increased an average of 9 per cent. Likewise, many large companies have over-expanded in relation to the amount of consumption.

Still further repressing the over-all growth rate of the economy, Mr. Keyserling argues, are the "hard-money, high-interest rate" boys.

"This policy," he says, "has done virtually nothing to check the excessive boom in productive facilities, because the giants responsible . . . have other methods of financing."

"But the policy is increasing tremendously the financing costs of the things workers and farmers buy on credit. It is playing havoc with small business."

Mr. Keyserling's viewpoints will be disputed by many, including other equally astute economists. His arguments, though, are worth thinking about. If he turns out to be correct, we could, indeed, suffer a depression that would "make your hair curl," but for different reasons than those held by the present secretary of the treasury, George Humphrey.—H.W.E.

No Way to Measure Return From Foreign Aid

By Edgar W. Hiestand, Rep., 21st District

Foreign aid has become a fixture in the federal budget and in the American economy.

Between July 1945 and December 1956, American taxpayers contributed $58 billion to foreign aid programs—an average of more than $5 billion a year. While this year's request is below the average, or $3.6 billion, it still amounts to 5 per cent of the $72 billion federal budget.

Next to Defense, it is the largest item in the budget. Yet despite these staggering figures, there is no program conducted by the federal government that individual members of Congress know less about. Foreign aid has become a super-secret mystery, and because it is so big—so all encompassing—Congress has found no way to solve the mystery. Instead it compounds it each year.

What we spend on foreign aid amounts to almost one per cent of the gross national product. Regardless of the "good" that has been accomplished through the years—and no one questions that you can't accomplish some good by spending $58 billion—we Americans face the inescapable fact that one per cent of our gross national product is shipped abroad each year with no return other than nebulous "good will."

Permitting one per cent of our production to vanish overseas while our citizens have to compete with one another for those goods that are left, certainly makes foreign aid the most inflationary part of all our inflationary spending. But foreign aid does more than inflate the American economy. It is also highly inflationary to those countries that get the American goods and dollars. Our dollars in fact are the basic cause for so many "pegged" currencies in recipient countries.

IF FOREIGN AID gives the United States a direct return, there is no way to measure it. That the program has been successful in one country, such as Greece, does not follow that the program can be equally successful in another country, like India. Yet Congress continues to vote funds blindly, without any adequate check on whether any purpose has been served by many aspects of the program.

Some waste is bound to occur in a program that extends to 59 countries and encompasses some 2,000 projects. Notorious examples have been cited in magazines. The question Congress cannot answer is whether these are isolated cases or whether they are typical of our entire foreign aid operation.

Nor does Congress have a yardstick for measuring whether a reduction or an increase of spending would improve the over-all program. Not only is the program so vast that it cannot be understood, so secret that it cannot be studied, and so extensive that it defeats its own purpose at times, but also it has become a sort of "sacred cow." It defies criticism. To say that foreign aid needs an overhaul can be construed as an attack on American foreign policy. While not even the strongest supporters of foreign aid allege that it is perfect, Congress has no way of correcting the faults without being accused of trying to scuttle the whole program.

This Inquisitive Earth

Around the Square

By Marjorie Parker

Possibly the nicest non sequitur of the week was executed by assistant librarian Gloria Hinshaw upon hearing the doggerel (by Thurber out of Simon and Schuster):

Hark, hark the dogs do bark.
The Duke is fond of kittens.
He likes to take their insides out
And use their fur for mittens.

"That," cried Gloria vigorously, "is why I can't stand Brahms' music!" Hmmm?

Well, it developed that somewhere in her musical readings she learned that Brahms loathed cats and would, in fact, lie in wait and shoot them with a—yeah, a bow and arrow.

CATS, as you don't need T. S. Elliot to point out, do not all say the same thing. Meow is only a polyglot word which endeavors to contain some of the shades of meaning in a cat's cry.

A Maltese in the neighborhood walks round and round the house at mealtime crying piteously, "Halp! Halp!"

While a very regal cat, upon being awakened as he slept in the kitchen sink, arched himself and passed the whole thing off with a languid "He-lllll-oooo."

Lee Shippey asks
What Do You Think?

July 1 the price of steel rose $6 a ton. That will cause similar rises in nearly everything we built and all kinds of appliances, kitchen utensils, motor cars and more than half of all the things most of us use in daily living. And of course it will all be blamed on the increased costs of labor.

But here is what probably will happen. The higher cost of steel should make it cost about $12 more to produce a $3,000 motor car. As things have been going the last few years it probably will be the excuse for raising the price of such a car $50 or $100. And how necessary was the advance? The first quarter of this year the net profits of the steel companies were hundreds of millions of dollars. There is every indication that they could have absorbed the increased cost of wages without advancing the cost of steel a nickel and still have made larger profits than most of us can dream of.

Just as in 1929, big business is basing its prices on all the traffic can bear instead of on what is necessary for a wholesome profit, which nobody would deny. The theory is that if workers are making $90 a week they can afford to pay higher prices, so food, clothes, housing, medical services and everything keeps going up.

It's a selfish and short-sighted theory and will bring us to another terrible bust if we don't stop the spiral. In 1929 they assured us it wouldn't—even Mr. Hoover did—but that didn't prevent it. Now if I'm a prophet of doom and gloom, what about Secretary Humphrey?

DU PONT is one of the world's greatest aggregations of money power, and General Motors, the first company to make more than a billion dollars in one year, is another. Most of us did not realize, until a Supreme Court decision the other day, that DuPont practically controls General Motors. That is one of the ways of big business to gain influential interest in other great companies or other lines of business.

I have heard it charged, though I do not know, that some of the great food chains are controlled by great oil companies. I think anyone can see that when half a dozen great financial powers crush out competition it is easy for them to have "gentlemen's agreements" to raise the price of this a penny a quart, of that a penny a gallon and of something else $6 a ton, and the steady rise in the cost of living strongly suggests that they are doing that very thing.

TO ANY Northern Liberal, though, there were two obvious gaps in Yarborough's political manifesto. There was not a word on civil rights. Nor was there any mention of the new efforts to put across a Natural Gas bill.

Political realities being what they are in Dixie it is probably asking too much for any Texas officeholder to speak up on these issues. Yarborough's talk would probably have had greater impact if he had, at least, acknowledged that the problems exist.

Sen. Douglas said recently that no one expects a man in political life to "commit suicide." But there are others who will await with interest some comments from Yarborough, they will want to hear what suggestions an intelligent Southern "moderate" has for solving these perplexing problems.

It seems now that unions are not content with boycotting individual businesses—they now propose to tackle entire cities.

A recent report disclosed that organized labor was said to be holding meetings to consider the possibility of setting up a nation-wide boycott against the city of Palm Springs, Calif. All this, because the city fathers of this desert resort are attempting to draft city ordinances outlawing the union shop.

In effect, the reported action proposed by the unions would be a directive to all union members to stay away from Palm Springs.

Oh, yes. Where was this meeting of union chiefs held? Palm Springs, of course!

Letter to the Editor

GET SUNTANNED

Dear Sir:

The article in your June 13 issue by the Foothill Branch of the Los Angeles County Medical Association is timely and good, but perhaps overbalanced as to its warnings, and wanting in practical advice as to how to get the most benefit safely, from sunbathing.

I write in the light of many years' experience of the right method of acquiring a healthy tan, as a member of sunbathing clubs.

On the first occasion, if quite untanned, one should remain exposed to the unobscured sun for only a short while; a pale blond for not more than 10 minutes, a real brunette for not more than 20 minutes. Any feeling of discomfort or burning should be the signal to stop for that day, however short the time.

This first occasion will produce a pink flush which will show later on in the day, but no soreness or peeling, if it had not been too prolonged. On the second day it may be a little longer, say 15 minutes to half an hour, according to the intensity of the sun and the time of day. Avoid the noonday sun altogether at first.

Carefully increase the time of exposure each day until your tan acquires its maximum darkness, which you can judge by the fact that it does not darken each day. By this time you will begin to feel some of its benefit in an increased sense of well-being.

If there is no sign of tanning after several exposures as advised, the time should not be extended, but the exposure should be taken in bright shade under the blue sky. If that produces soreness the case is indeed exceptional and great care should be taken.

I am sure the benefit from a deep, all-over tan is great and well worth patience and effort. Yes, "the sun's days are powerful medicine."

Yours very truly,
HERBERT WEBB.

Mrs. Jack Vern Harding

Patricia Ann McMaster Weds Jack Vern Harding June 29th

Patricia Ann McMaster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. McMaster of Pasadena, exchanged nuptial vows with Jack Vern Harding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Harding, 3845 Fairmeade Rd., June 29 in St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church. Father Robert Condon read the service.

The father of the bride escorted his daughter down the aisle to the altar. Her bridal gown was of white tulle with a drop waistline. The bodice of Chantilly lace had a sweetheart neckline, embroidered in seed pearls, and the full bouffant skirt fell into a chapel train. A crown of matching lace, trimmed in seed pearls, held her French illusion fingertip veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of lavender throat orchids, lily of the valley and stephanotis with streamers.

WHITE FLOWERS and candles were used in the church decorations. Large white satin bows were placed on the end of each pew. The matron of honor, Mrs. James F. Lytle, sister of the bride, was attired in a ballerina length dress of powder blue tulle with a fitted bodice and full skirt. She carried a bouquet of deep pink carnations.

The bridesmaids, Lorna Young, Mary Frances Kaufman and Beverly Moore, wore similar frocks and carried bouquets of pale pink carnations.

Gary Harding was his brother's best man and the ushers were Gordon Anderson, Bruce Barnes, James Daniels and John McMaster, brother of the bride.

THE MOTHER of the bride chose a gown of champagne lace and chiffon accented by a corsage of pale green cymbidiums.

The groom's mother wore a sheath dress of mauve pink silk organza with a rounded neck in front which dipped to a "V" in the back. The straight skirt was pulled into a bustle effect in the back. Her corsage was of pink pale cymbidiums.

White flowers were used in the floral decorations at the reception which was held in the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Ramona Convent High School. The groom is a graduate of Pasadena High School and the University of Southern California.

The Kulinary Kettle . . .

Scallopini Ideal for Hunter's Bag; Beef Good, Too

By Toni Maurin
SY. 7-9634

I heard about Mrs. Keith (Nadir) Barnes of 1280 Daveric, Pasadena, from some of her friends. Her wonderful recipe is the envy of every hunter's wife that ends up with too much elk or venison.

VENISON SCALLOPINI (Round Steak, Sirloin Tip, or Elk may be substituted)

- 1 1/2 lbs. meat
- 1 egg
- 1 cup fine cracker crumbs
- 1/4 cup minced parsley
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup dry sherry or Marsala wine
- Salt, pepper and flour
- 1/3 cup thin cream
- 1 cup grated parmesan cheese
- 1/4 cup butter, margarine or oil
- 1/2 cup broth or water

Slice meat into serving pieces about three inches square and three-eighths inch thick. Pound well with flour, pepper and salt. Beat egg slightly and stir in thin cream. Mix together cracker crumbs, parmesan and parsley. Dip each piece into egg mixture and then into cheese and crumb mixture until well coated. Heat oil and garlic in a very heavy fry pan with tight cover.

Add meat and brown quickly till golden on both sides. Pour in wine and broth and then put on lid and bake in oven at 375°F. for 45 minutes to one hour. This recipe may be prepared to the baking point in advance of company and then popped in the oven 45 minutes to an hour before serving.

With this meat Mrs. Barnes serves spiced currants and wild rice.

- SPICED CURRANTS
- 2 cups brown sugar
- 3/4 cup water
- 1/4 tsp. ground cloves
- 1 pkg. (16 oz.) dry currants
- 3/4 cup cider vinegar
- 1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
- 2 thin slices lemon w/skin

Place brown sugar, vinegar, water, cloves, cinnamon and lemon in sauce pan and simmer for 10 minutes. Add currants and continue cooking for 15 minutes. Serve hot.

WILD RICE

Mrs. Barnes pretty much follows the recipe as to washing the rice several times that comes on the package. Instead of cooking it, however, on the top of the stove, she allows 1 1/4 cups broth to each cup of wild rice and bakes it in a casserole in the oven along with her meat so that the entire dinner may be served easily and come out at the same time.

One cup of rice is sufficient for four or five people.

MRS. BARNES came to this country from Sydney, Australia, as a war bride. Her husband was in the Navy at the time. They lived in Los Angeles for five years and then moved to Upper Hastings in their present home. They have one little boy, Craig.

She is acting as secretary Tenn.

in the Grosvenor Square Chapter of the Daughters of the British Empire and in her spare time she is teaching a daily morning class in the Methodist Church Bible School.

Her husband is a partner in an interesting business, which she tells me is rather new around this part of the Southland. He is in the American Aerial Survey business in Covina. I forgot to ask her what kind of planes they use but I am going to be careful that my laundry is good and white.

Susan Suman Nuptials In Carmel

Susan Larence Suman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Lawrence Suman, 332 Sturtevant, became the bride of Dr. William Hepler Hindle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart James Hindle of Beverly Hills, July 2 in the Church of the Wayfarer, Carmel, Calif.

Only members of the immediate families were in attendance at the ceremony and wedding breakfast which followed.

The bride wore a white Belgian lace sheath, white Milan hat and matching accessories. She carried a bouquet of white orchids.

The bride attended Castilleja School in Palo Alto and Wellesley College. She is a graduate of Anokaia School for Girls and the University of Southern California where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

She was a tournament tennis player before going east to school.

Dr. Hindle is a graduate of Beverly Hills High School, Stanford University and Yale Medical School where he was president of Alpha Kappa Kappa medical fraternity. He has just completed his internship at Los Angeles General Hospital and will report the first of next month to the University of California at Los Angeles Medical Center where he has been appointed a resident doctor.

The newly married couple will honeymoon in Northern California and Acapulco, Mexico. They will also visit friends in Guadalajara.

They will make their home at 4456 Overland Dr., Culver City.

Those in attendance at the wedding besides the parents were Miss Mary Suman, Mr. and Mrs. Michael John Suman, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Suman, Mr. and Mrs. W. Fenimore Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Robert James Hindle and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carlson.

Colorful Hibiscus Will Grow In All Areas of California

Some form of the Hibiscus can be successfully grown in almost every area of California, for this colorful flowering shrub grows as a tropical evergreen and as a tough, hardy perennial.

Where winter is warm, the Chinese Hibiscus (H. rosa-sinensis) should be planted, says the California Association of Nurserymen. The Chinese Hibiscus, often called Rose of China, is the evergreen member of the Hibiscus family and is grown in an open manner from 8 to 10 feet.

Foliage is dark, glossy green and there are a great many varieties available in single and double six-inch flowers of yellow, amber, shell pink, vermillion and shades in between.

SOME NAMED varieties of the Chinese Hibiscus include Agnes Gault, coral pink; Kona, rosy pink; Crown of Bohemia, bronze orange, and Brilliant, scarlet.

The hardy perennial Hibiscus known as Rose of Sharon (H. syriacus) will grow in all areas of California. Its habit of growth is rather stiff and upright, reaching 5 to 12 feet. Flowers, three inches in size, are single or double, like hollyhocks in their shape.

In addition to the orange, pink, red, white and scarlet shades that the Chinese Hibiscus bears, the Rose of Sharon also blooms in bluish-purple hues.

GIVE THE Rose of Sharon a place in the sun but don't let it dry out, say nurserymen. In winter the shrub will die to the ground, but come spring it returns with a great burst of bloom, flowering from midsummer to frost.

Both Hibiscus species are sensational eye-catchers in a garden and as such they should not be planted with competing shrubs or flowers. In self-groupings or with evergreens that provide a background of green, the Hibiscus shrubs make brilliantly colored "stars" for your garden "stage."

Hibiscus can also be attractively grown in containers. The glossy green foliage of the Chinese Hibiscus is especially handsome in a redwood tub or box.

Electric cooking keeps more juice in roast chicken—because it's flameless!

When you cook electrically there's no draft of constantly changing air because there's no flame. (Flame, you see, needs air to breathe. So a flame-heated oven constantly inhales dry air, exhales moist air—literally cooks meat in a hot draft that evaporates good juices.) In an electric oven there's no draft of dry air. You cook with moist heat. As a result, more juice stays in the meat...and the meat tastes better.

Electric cooking is far cooler, too. As much as 16° cooler. The reason is obvious: electric cooking puts the heat directly into the food, not into the room. Electric cooking is cleaner, too, because it's flameless. There are no by-products of combustion to dirty walls and darken your bright pans. Truly, it's the only modern way to cook. Why not see your appliance dealer for a demonstration of the new electric ranges?

Did you know? Flameless electric cooking costs about $1.50 a month for a family of 4

All County Camps Operate Under Official Permits

By Roy O. Gilbert, M.D.,
L. A. County Health Officer

With the approach of summer and the end of the school year, many youngsters are eagerly planning for a summer vacation at camp. In most cases, nothing could be better for them. Camping constitutes an interesting, health-building experience for children that may also provide pleasant memories for them in the years to come.

All children's camps in Los Angeles County operate under health department permits which guarantee that proper health facilities are available and that sanitation standards are maintained under a system of regular inspections by health department personnel.

Most of these camps are known as "organizational" camps, that is, they are sponsored by organizations such as churches, school systems, youth agencies, and scouting groups.

THE AVERAGE cost per child in these camps will amount to roughly $20 per week, although arrangements have been made by public-spirited organizations and individuals to provide free camping opportunities to children whose families cannot afford this expenditure.

Parents can be assured that their children will receive clean food, served on clean dishes; that they will be supplied with safe drinking water; that clean sleeping quarters will be provided; that swimming facilities will be inspected and the water sampled frequently; and that all camp wastes will be disposed of properly so that the camp environment will be free from preventable health hazards.

Providing the camp has been selected with care and the child has had a physical examination and what-ever inoculations have been recommended by the family physician, there is nothing to cause parents further anxiety. All camps employ professional personnel who keep a close watch on each child's well-being.

A FEW children may be victims of homesickness. However, summer camps provide a good chance to teach a child how to combat homesickness in a situation that provides plenty of diversion. And at any rate, misery in youthful company is unlikely to last more than a few hours.

There are all kinds of camps for all kinds of children. Fathers especially tend to think of camp as a place to toughen a youngster and so make him better able to take care of himself among more aggressive playmates. But it is often true that a timid child "toughens" up faster in a camp that specializes in hobbies and crafts. The discovery that competency can exist in fields other than muscular coordination is often all that a child needs to develop into a secure and self-confident individual.

Once in a while, there are times when it is better not to send a child to camp, even when he voices no objection. In cases of family jealousy among children, one child should not be sent to camp and the others kept at home. Instead of enjoying himself as he should, the youngster away from home may feel exiled.

GENERALLY speaking, camping, with all its activities, including fishing, hiking and swimming, is great fun and most youngsters enjoy it to the full. Such an opportunity to be on their own, as it were, also helps them develop independence and grow in emotional maturity.

A folder describing most of the camps serving the Southern California area is available in public libraries, at all playgrounds, and at elementary and junior high schools.

A personal copy of the pamphlet may be obtained for 35 cents from the American Camping Association, Welfare Foundation, 729 S. Figueroa St., Los Angeles, California (Michigan 8821).

Phht! Phht! And now the children are asking how soon does Christmas come? You just can't stay ahead of the game. Wasn't it a beautiful sight yesterday evening to see the lights in the sky like falling comets? How wonderful to be able to celebrate our independence instead of hearing the loud report of firearms and bombs with the same light but destruction in their wake. As one man said, "I am proud to pay taxes in a free thinking, free speaking country where a man can call his soul his own."

MR. AND MRS. Aikman Armstrong of 3450 Fairpoint gave a cocktail party last Friday night in order to thank the friends who have assisted her during her trial with a broken leg. Among the guests were Messrs. Clinton Campbell, who left last Tuesday for Vancouver and points surrounding. Among the guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Guy Hodgkins, Walter Zeiss, Bill Jenkins, Wilmer Brown, Victor Matloff and Wilber Griest.

MR. AND MRS. Henry Hitt Crane Jr. have moved into their newly-built home at 1580 Old House Road. They are deep in the throes of furnishing outside and inside, but are making remarkable progress towards becoming settled. They have two adorable little girls, Cheryl who is 22 months old, and Christine, 4. In addition, Mrs. Crane's mother, Mrs. Josephine Spencer, who presently is residing in Europe, will be visiting with them. They are former residents of Arcadia, where Mr. Crane is curriculum adviser for the Arcadia High School system.

MR. AND MRS. M. E. Anderson of 2031 Windover Road are entertaining Mrs. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Brooke, from Portland, Ore., for a few weeks. While they are here they hope to take a few sightseeing trips together.

MRS. DAVE ELMER of 2480 Fairpoint entertained her bridge club last week at a luncheon. Among the guests were Mesdames Robert Anderson, David Wood, D. O. Nicholson, William Zogg, Phil Lightfoot, Norman White and her sister, Mrs. William Scott, who is visiting here from Indianapolis.

MR. AND MRS. P. L. Wetcher of 1805 Kinneloa Mesa entertained last Friday at a barbecue dinner. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Newman and their two children, Douglas and Della Ann.

MR. AND MRS. Sam Matloff of 1590 Old House Road gave a surprise going away barbecue and swimming party honoring Mrs. Clinton Campbell, who left last Tuesday for Vancouver and points surrounding. Among the guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Guy Hodgkins, Walter Zeiss, Bill Jenkins, Wilmer Brown, Victor Matloff and Wilber Griest.

MISS PATTY PEMBER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pember, and Linda Buccola were co-hostesses at a buffet dinner and dancing party for around 40 young people at the Pember home at 1270 Wynn Road. The occasion was the celebration of the eighth grade graduation from the Assumption of the Virgin Mary School and the entire class was invited.

FRIENDS and neighbors of Dr. H. E. Morrissey of 3306 Barhite were greatly saddened to learn of his death last week.

CLUB HONORED The Arcadia Toastmaster's Club 115 was honored recently by the visit of Toastmasters' international president, T. Vincent McIntire, who at the present time is engaged in public relations work for the United States Air Force in Iceland.

Thank you, Thomas Jefferson, for writing the manuscript that gave us this holiday, the manuscript being the Declaration of Independence. There are many kids indebted to you for doing this for other freedoms than you were striving for at that time.

Some of these kids from the Ranch are Dorinda Brown, Pat Cress, Linda Shulman, Lynn Perlman, Judy Jennings, Priscilla Watson, Diana Barnes, Mike Clancy, Paul Jacobs, Harvey Gurn, man and myself. The reason for our thankfulness is that we are free from summer school for a day. Most of the kids are taking Biology, which requires getting to school at 8 every morning and from six to eight hours homework a day—and night.

Along with the written work we are becoming snail collectors, guinea pig dissectors and customers of the local butcher where we purchase such things as hog's kidney and brain for the purpose of comparison to ours. Surprisingly enough, they are very much alike in appearance.

We thank you again, Thomas Jefferson, and dedicate this day to you—instead of books.

PAT SULLIVAN, Linda Reeve and Kathy Alfredo gave a swimming and dinner party at Pat's June 26. The kids swam and afterwards for dinner had hot dogs, potato salad, punch and later roasted marshmallows.

Al Zeman, Jerry Raymond and Richard Yanoff left last Monday for a week's camping trip in the High Sierra. Jerry Raymond drove up and then they hiked into the spot they wanted which was both the North Lake and the South Lake. They went after golden trout—I hope they got it.

CAROLYN HOWELL and Nancy Hicks have been chosen to represent Pasadena area Girl Scouts as counselors in training. They will spend a month at Huckleberry Woods, 70 miles out of San Francisco in Big Basin State Park. Their job will be to counsel girls from 10 to 12 years of age.

ARE YOU having fun this summer? Why not share your fun with others by calling ELgin 5-1903 and asking for Pat any time after 1:30? (I am at dear old summer school in the morning.)

Fowler-Rippeee Nuptials Held June 23 In Pasadena Central Christian Church

White stock and liliadi banked the candlelight altar when Sandra Lou Rippee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jan C. Rippee, 1575 Old House Road, became the bride of Robert Douglas Fowler, son of Mrs. Phoebe Graham of Redondo Beach and Roscoe Fowler of Lynwood, June 23 in Central Christian Church, Dr. Wesley P. Ford officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length white gown, made by her mother, fashioned with a fitted long sleeved bodice of lace with a full bouffant tulle over sat in skirt. Her finger-tip veil was caught by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

THE MATRON of honor, Mrs. Gwen James, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Karen Woodworth, Linda Rice, Sandra Whitehouse and Shirley Rippee, wore ballerina length lilac colored frocks with fitted lace bodices and full taffeta skirts. Their gloves, shoes and headpieces were of matching hue and they carried cascade bouquets of yellow carnations with orchid centers.

James Fowler served his brother as best man and the guests were seated by Ronald Rippee, Dave Bartlett, Mike Daugherty and Jack Dack.

The flower girl, Jeannie Phillipson, wore a yellow and white full bouffant dress and Bobby Phillipson, attired in a white tuxedo, carried the rings to the altar.

Mrs. Jennifer Jones, soloist, sang "Because," "The Lord's Prayer" and "At Dawning." She was accompanied at the organ by Elmo Elnung.

Little League to Sponsor Fund-Raising Campaign

By Charles Ayres

Hastings Little League's interests were divided last week between two hot pennant races and their annual fund-raising campaign.

The Reds, winners of their last eight games, have taken the lead in the American division with a perfect 4-0 record while three teams, the Royals, Cubs and Beavers, are tied in the National with identical 3-1 records.

Over 200 boys are beseeching East Pasadena residents in neighboring towns to purchase 35-cent tickets to the Hastings Drive-In Theater performances of July 8 through 11. The money collected goes to the League treasury and the purchaser may use the ticket as a 35-cent credit on the regular 85-cent admission on the above dates.

THE BOYS are competing for five prizes led by a record player and radio as first and second prizes, respectively. Last year's sale netted the league $1,000.

The Reds, looking like anything but champions, sneaked past the Tigers, 10-7, and the Dodgers, 8-6, to keep their unbeaten record intact. Meanwhile, the Yankees whipped the Dodgers, 10-6, then lost an eight-inning 5-3 thriller to the Braves to drop into a second place tie with the winners. The Braves earlier had edged the Indians, 6-5, in a tight, well-played game.

The remaining games saw the Indians, sparked by Jim Barlow's brilliant fielding at second base, turn back the Tigers.

Gardner Swenson's Royals continued their hot pace by taking two, 16-14 over the Seals, and 4-3 over the Angels, to move into a first place tie with the Cubs and Beavers.

EIGHT RUNS in the second proved too much for the Beavers as they bowed to

Mrs. J. B. Morris Joins AAUW

Mrs. John B. Morris, 3795 Canfield Rd., has been welcomed in the Arcadia Branch, American Association of University Women. Mrs. Morris is a graduate of the University of Colorado where she received her Bachelor of Science degree in home economics.

Gamma Phi Nursery Guild Sponsors Theater Benefit

Members of Gamma Phi Beta Nursery Guild are busy completing plans for their third annual Greek Theater benefit.

This year they have chosen the evening of July 8 for the opening performance of Jose Greco and his company of Spanish dancers.

Already picnic parties on the theater grounds are being planned by members and their guests before the show, as well as private parties at the Los Feliz Brown Derby where dinner and cocktails will be served in banquet rooms set aside for the annual Gamma Phi Beta night. A chartered bus will take groups to the theater from the Derby in ample time for the opening curtain.

Funds raised will join in the support of the philanthropies sponsored at the Hospital of the Good Samaritan, Los Angeles, which is constantly adding equipment and services in an effort to make its facilities more than adequate.

GAMMA PHIS throughout the Los Angeles area, and their friends who will be attending the performance, will make a dream come true for the obstetrics department of the hospital.

This dream is the establishment of a special care nursery especially set up for babies who need more than the normal care provided in the regular nurseries or in the premature nursery. Included is a special incubator, a gift of the Nursery Guild, which has provided funds for other useful equipment.

Pasadena area portion of the benefit will go to its personal philanthropy — the Gamma Phi Beta Room in the maternity wing of the new Methodist Hospital of Southern California located in Arcadia.

COMMITTEE chairmen from the Pasadena alumnae chapter working toward the success of the benefit theater party are Mrs. John W. Boquet, 181 S. Holman, general chairman for the entire Los Angeles area; Mrs. John C. Wilfong, 3250 Mesaloe Lane, ticket chairman, and Mrs. Donald G. Murray, publicity chairman.

Supervisor and Mrs. Warren Dorn of Pasadena will be honored guests of the evening and Supervisor Dorn will present the check to the hospital from the stage of the Greek Theater the night of the performance.

Patrons and patronesses for the affair this year from Pasadena are Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Braun, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph K. Cannell, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Von Schlegel, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Stewart and Dr. and Mrs. John Vruwink.

Southland Beaches Offer Variety of Seaside Pleasantries, Sights

Southern California has many natural blessings—and certainly its beaches are one of them. Now, at mid-summer, the beach is particularly luring, and all the Southlander need do to find it is head for US 101A and drive south. For extending southward from Long Beach is a wondrous shoreline of curling seascapes, lagoons, and bays which offer a galaxy of seaside pleasantries.

If the motorist were to stop at each of the south-east beaches shown on the accompanying map, here's what he'd find, reports the Outing Bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California:

LONG BEACH—This seashore metropolis is California's fifth largest city and, in addition to its fine beach, offers such attractions as the Pike, the Rainbow amusement pier, Signal Hill and several supper clubs for after-dark entertainment. Also a great Naval port, the city's harbor frequently provides visitors with an opportunity to see some of the Nation's finest warships.

HUNTINGTON BEACH—Along the water's edge around Huntington Beach is a giant forest of oil derricks. However, don't let the oil mislead you. The beach is clean and the swimming good.

NEWPORT BEACH—An extremely popular resort, this area offers excellent facilities for water sports, boating and swimming. It is also a departure point for Catalina Island and deep-sea fishing trips. Lovely Corona Del Mar is nearby and offers many secluded coves.

LAGUNA BEACH—This delightful beach city is not only popular for its seashore but also for its world-famous Pageant of the Masters, which is scheduled for July 20-Aug. 18. The exhibit features art masterpieces, reproduced life-size, with living models authentically costumed against huge painted backgrounds in big gilt frames.

DANA POINT—Overlooking Dana Cove, the point is located on the coast and is only one mile north of Doheny State Park, which provides extremely pleasant picnic facilities.

Should the suggested circle route be taken on the return trip, visitors will find San Juan Capistrano Mission well worth a stop. Founded in 1776, it was the seventh mission established in California. World famous for its swallows and pigeons, the Mission is a great favorite among children.

BEACH DUTY—Beaches rank high on the list of Southland natural assets. (Just ask the people pictured here.) And no matter what you're looking for—surf, bay or lagoon—you're certain to find it along the south coast.

Cystic Fibrosis Guild Elects New Board

Members of Hastings Christianson, president, in Ranch Guild to Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, the Work-fingwell Jr., first vice president and associate members met last week in the home of Mrs. Charles D. Eidson, 1135 Leonard, for their annual potluck supper and election of officers for the coming year.

The new executive board, secretary, and Mrs. John D. headed by Mrs. Kenneth W. Boldemann, treasurer.

controversy, but withdrew his suggestion Tuesday night.

ANY MENTION of McComb drew hearty applause from the audience, especially when Mrs. Marlin presented her petition.

The petition urged the Board "to reconsider the acceptance of the resignation of Dr. Stuart McComb as superintendent of schools and to conduct an independent investigation of the circumstances surrounding the disciplinary action" against Walker and Hallman.

"We believe," the petition said, "that the retiring Board acted hastily. We believe that those accused of misconduct were denied the fundamental American right to face their detractors. We believe that the three newly elected members of the Board of Education have an obligation to themselves and to the community to act in the matter."

"We believe that unless the newly constituted Board of Education takes positive action in the matter the professional integrity of the employees involved will be irreparably damaged, that the morale of the entire teaching and administrative staff will be irretrievably undermined, and that public confidence in the Board of Education as a fair and judicious agency of the people will be lost."

BAR-B-CHUCK*

HOW TO MARINATE CHUCK STEAKS

For 2 1/2 to 3 lbs. of meat:
1 cup salad oil
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup vinegar (half of this may be sherry wine)
1 teaspoon salt
1 tsp. rosemary
1/2 tsp. basil
1/2 tsp. paprika
1 or 2 cloves garlic, crushed
Combine all ingredients; mix well and pour over steak. Let stand over night, or at least 3 hours. Broil steaks 4 to 5 inches from heat for 15 minutes. Turn; baste with marinade and broil 10 to 15 minutes more. Or cook on grill over hot coals to desired doneness, basting frequently with remaining marinade. Tenderizer, used before marinating, further improves meat.
